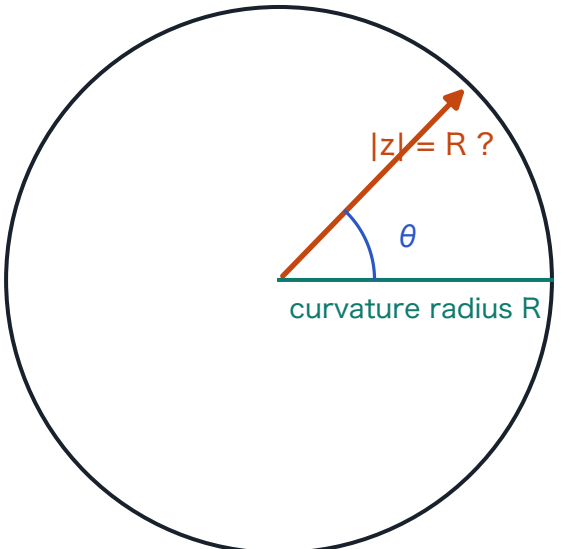
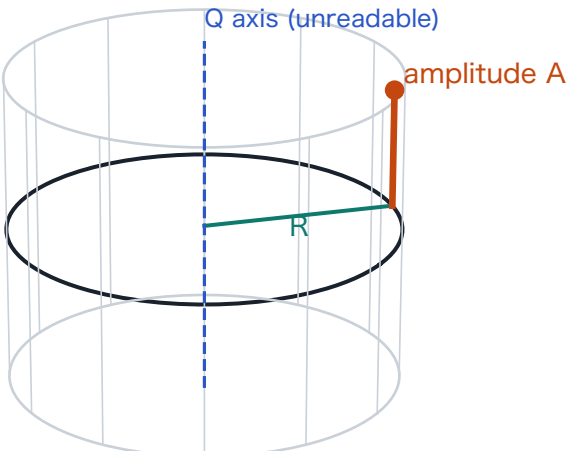
Circle in the plane: amplitude on the radius coincides with R; the two cannot be told apart





Cylinder $S^1 \times \mathbb{R}_Q$: the amplitude lives on the unreadable axis Q orthogonal to both the circle and R (origin of the Q axis)